

Reviewing the Feasibility Report with Adobe Acrobat Reader

1. You will need Adobe Acrobat Reader 5.0.5 to use all the navigation aids embedded in this report. You can download this free software from the Adobe web site at <http://www.adobe.com/products/acrobat/readstep.html>
2. The report is printed in two volumes, each with its own table of contents. You can click on any item in the table of contents to go directly to that section of the report.
3. You can also navigate through the report using Adobe Bookmarks. Click on the Bookmarks tab on the upper left side of your screen to open the bookmarks panel.
4. Throughout the report any reference to a citation, figure, or table is linked directly to that item. Click on any text highlighted in blue to go to the object cited. The Adobe back arrow returns you to the last screen viewed, so if you scroll around after using one of these hyperlinks it may require multiple mouse clicks to return to your starting point.
5. If you are reading this report over the Internet, remember to use the Adobe toolbar and not the buttons on your browser to navigate the documents. Specifically, use the Adobe disk icon to save a file, the Adobe print icon to print a section of the document, and the Adobe forward and back arrows.
